

OPEN HEARINGS
WILL BE HELD ON TARIFF BILL

Senate Finance Committee Sets June 12 As Date for First Session To Be Held.

2 MONTHS' RECESS
BY CONGRESS SEEN

Sub-Committees Will Be Named By Leaders In Effort To Expedite Work On Measure.

BY D. HAROLD OLIVER,
Associated Press Staff Writer,
Washington, June 3.—(AP)—The senate finance committee agreed unanimously today to hold open hearings on the house tariff bill beginning June 12 and ending July 10.

To speed the committee work and assure final congressional disposition of the measure with time to spare before the regular December session starts, it was decided to allot the taking of testimony on various levels to three or four subcommittees of the committee. The committee also considered the fixing of a time limit for a final vote on the bill and later date for completing action on the conference report, but deferred a decision until tomorrow. Chairman Smoot expressed the opinion that the committee's decision would permit an earlier reconvening of congress after the summer recess than has been proposed and pave the way for enactment of the legislation around November 1 instead of December. He would not say how long he thought the committee would take in amending the house bill after completing the one month's hearings, but he indicated it could be made ready for senate consideration by mid-August.

Two Months Recess.
This would mean only a two instead of a three months recess as has been discussed and is believed to be more in line with President Hoover's wishes. Senator Jones, of Washington, assistant republican leader, who has been advocating early action on the tariff, said the shorter vacation would be acceptable to him.

The vote for open sessions by subcommittees was taken on a motion by Chairman Smoot after a proposal by Senator Simmons, republican, that before the full committee had been rejected.

The committee republicans had been understood to favor closed sessions, but likelihood of a contest on the senate floor for open hearings and the prospect of the democrats drawing support for the tariff from the republican independents was believed to have led to presentation of the Smoot plan. The democrats supported it.

Finish Work Sooner.
Senator Smoot said after the meeting that by dividing up into subcommittees the finance group could finish its work much sooner than if the full committee were required to handle one schedule of the bill at a time. As there are 10 schedules in the house bill, each subcommittee is expected to take testimony on four or five schedules.

Chairman Smoot will name the republican members of the subcommittees and Senator Simmons will select the minority members. Their selections probably will be made known tomorrow.

THREE ARE KILLED AND TEN INJURED
IN OHIO ACCIDENT

Batavia, Ohio, June 3.—(AP)—Three persons, a man and two women, were killed instantly and ten others injured near here early tonight. A bus bound from Cincinnati to Columbus, hooked wheels with an automobile and both went into a ditch, the three dead being pinned under the bus.

The dead: Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Ireton, of Marion, Ohio, and Mrs. Lucy B. Scott, of Pittsburgh, Pa. Seven of the injured were taken to Cincinnati hospitals and the others to Hillsboro.

Duncan Mathieson Tells of Need for More Stringent Regulations. Chief Beavers Makes Report.

Duncan Mathieson, captain of detectives, San Francisco, Cal., Monday afternoon told members of the International Association of Chiefs of Police in convention here that cooperation of federal judges was doing more toward coping with the narcotic evil than anything else.

"Long terms are invariably imposed in California federal courts when a defendant, charged with violating the Harrison act, is convicted and no leniency is meted out in event of a guilty plea," Captain Mathieson said, "and the attitude of the jurist is the greatest aid we have in combating the evil."

Included in the methods by the state of California in its fight against the traffic Captain Mathieson listed:

Prescription Laws.
(1) Tightening regulations by which physicians can prescribe a narcotic.

(2) Making the buying and possession of "dope" a violation of the law.

(3) Heavy penalties for violation of opium laws.

(4) Classification of addicts as vagrants.

(5) Severe punishment for addicts who escape from state hospitals.

(6) No consideration of leniency for convicted operators of dives.

(7) No provision for parole of anyone convicted under any sections of the law.

The number of addicts in the United States has increased considerably, according to a report of the federal bureau of the speaker declared. It was shown that, despite the tremendous growth in population, there are today 100,000 less users of "dope" than in 1920.

Chief Gerk Speaks.
Chief Joseph A. Gerk, of the St. Louis police department, in a discussion of "Higher Type Police Service," brought stories of application from various "extra branches of service" that have been installed in his department within the last three or four years.

Most praised of the innovations enumerated by the Missouri official, the consensus among the visitors pointed to a police "employment bureau" which, during the past year, obtained jobs for more than 1,600 of the 5,000 persons who made application for work. "And many of the positions which the bureau was responsible for, carried excellent salaries and good opportunity for promotion," Chief Gerk declared.

"Safe Talks" by patrolmen and sergeants in the St. Louis grammar schools form another prominent division of the extra-duty endeavors indulged in by his men, the Missouri chief said, "and that innovation has brought us as much if not more favorable comment than any other one thing undertaken." The squad assigned to this.

DIPLOMAS UNDER COURT'S ORDERS

Des Moines, Iowa, June 3.—(AP)—Sixty seniors of Des Moines university were granted diplomas today, under a court injunction, which restrained trustees from closing the institution and thus halting issuance of the sheepskins.

The exercises were in charge of Dr. Harry C. Wayman, president, who, with his entire faculty, was dismissed by the trustees under terms of the injunction, however, the dismissal does not become effective until tomorrow.

BALDWIN TO QUIT
AS PREMIER TODAY

London, June 3.—(AP)—Stanley Baldwin, prime minister of England since October, 1924, and conservative party leader, today bowed to the will of the nation as expressed in the general election, Thursday, without unnecessary delay.

He will take the resignation of his government tomorrow to King George on his sickbed at Windsor castle. After consultation with the members of his cabinet this afternoon, the premier solved the dilemma confronting the conservatives in parliament by resigning power and leaving the way open for the second labor government in England's history.

Official announcement that Mr. Baldwin had placed the resignation of his ministry in King George's hands, was expected tomorrow or Wednesday.

His decision, declared during the week-end at the official country residence of British premiers, Chequers, puts an end to much speculation about the immediate political future of Great Britain.

When Mr. Baldwin sees the king tomorrow it is expected that he will advise his majesty to summon Ramsay MacDonald, premier of the first labor government in 1924, to form a new ministry. With 287 seats out of 415 in the house of commons Mr. MacDonald commands the strongest single party in the house. He is 21 years short of a majority over all other parties.

Mr. MacDonald is fully ready to accept the task of governing.

Attorney-General Mitchell's Tactics Caused Her To Quit, Says Chicago Tribune Story.

LOST OUT IN FIGHT FOR PRISON SPIES

Retirement Is Said To Have Resulted from Heated Differences Over Policies of Department.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS,
Washington, June 3.—(AP)—In the face of unusual protestations of regret which came from the White House at the time, Washington political circles were stirred today by a special dispatch to the Chicago Tribune, leading republican organ of the middle west, from its Washington bureau, making the blunt statement that Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt resigned her post in the department of justice last week only after being "squeezed out" by Attorney-General Mitchell.

The Tribune dispatch, written by its Washington bureau chief, Arthur Sears Henning, was read with all the more interest because President Hoover, in announcing the resignation of Mrs. Willebrandt sought to disavow the suggestion that her retirement may have resulted from heated differences over policies of the department with which she was identified.

These differences, according to the dispatch, concerned not only Mrs. Willebrandt's espousal of the espionage system which brought about the forced resignation of former Warden John W. Snook, of the Atlanta penitentiary, but also her insistence that all prohibited enforcement activities be transferred from the treasury to the department of justice under her direction, in keeping with proposals made by dry republicans during the presidential campaign.

Blocked in her efforts to have this done and disappointed at the failure of President Hoover and Attorney-General Mitchell to stand by her fully, she, she precipitantly resigned from the department and found administration officials alert to accept her resignation, according to the Chicago publication.

Differences Open.
Due to the open differences between Mrs. Willebrandt, who is the assistant United States attorney-general in charge of prohibition prosecutions and federal prisons, and her departmental superior, there was a disposition to accept with a grain of salt the statements of regret made at the White House in announcing her retirement.

At best, the feeling in informed circles was that President Hoover had been misinformed on the true relations between her and the attorney-general, who is known to be opposed to a continuation of the policy of planning federal undercover men in penal institutions for spy work against warlike republicans, such as that which led to the ousting of Snook.

Nevertheless, the White House statement has been permitted to go unchallenged by the dispatch by a leading organ of the president's own party appeared.

Sections of the Tribune article, which was reproduced locally, are as follows:

"When the Hoover administration came into power she was in full command of the department."

Ban Hazing
Of Freshmen
At GeorgiaStudents Vote To Free First
Year Men from Traditional Misfortune.

Athens, Ga., June 3.—(AP)—The students of the University of Georgia, in mass meeting tonight, adopted the suggestion of Kankakee Anderson, campus leader, to "break with tradition" and voted to abolish hazing of freshmen.

And, furthermore, the students set up machinery to see that the new order of things is carried out when the first semester opens in September. Instead of the use of force by sophomores, fire freshmen rules will be administered and enforced by a council.

The council will consist of the president of the Pan-Hellenic council, the president of the senior class, and the president of Blue Key council, an advisory student organization.

Freshmen rules heretofore will prohibit presence of freshmen in poolrooms; forbid them wearing golf knickerbockers; and kind of hat except the traditional red caps until Christmas, and prohibit their presence at dances until after Christmas.

The students proudly voted to abide by the rules, after the motion to abolish hazing had passed and the rules had been promulgated.

Germany Proposes Suspension of New Reparations Plan, Pending Settlement.

SUM OF $6,000,000
INVOLVED IN CASE

Claim Is Based On Fact Germans Took Gold from Belgians and Left Paper Marks.

Paris, June 3.—(AP)—The creditor reparations experts tonight had under consideration a German proposal that the new reparations plan now virtually complete be suspended until settlement of Belgian claims of compensation for paper marks left in that country at the close of the World War. Movement for discussion of this question already was under way today with the naming of plenipotentiaries by the German and Belgian governments. The amount involved is about $6,000,000.

The German proposal was embodied in a letter from Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, chief of the German experts, to Chairman Owen D. Young. It was considered at length by the experts this evening without reaching a decision. The deliberations will be resumed tomorrow.

Insist on Settlement.
The Belgians insist that the question must be settled before signature of the conference report, which is otherwise ready, because in their opinion the Germans are unwilling to negotiate unless the marks question is linked with the return of the provinces of Eupen and Malmedy transferred from Germany to Belgium by the treaty of Versailles. They argued that while the Germans reaped the benefit from the devastations which they are now paying France they reap a benefit from the gold and securities they took out of the Belgian treasury in exchange for paper marks which became worthless.

Discussion of this question in full committee meeting today passed between Emil Francqui and Dr. Schacht. The chief of the Belgian delegation asked why the question was not settled by the plenipotentiaries. Schacht replied the Germans could not go into it because no one could tell where all the paper came from.

"Took Our Gold."
M. Francqui retorted, "No one can tell. I can tell, and I will tell. This is how it happened. You came into our country and you took our gold and securities and placed it in some scraps of paper. Now all we ask is that you give us back our gold and what we will give you back the paper."

The German reply was that the numbers on the marks were sufficient to identify any part that might be of the inflation.

City council, by a vote of 28 to 0, Monday afternoon attempted to preserve its latest effort to pass a constitutional segregation law by voting to override Mayor J. N. Ragsdale's veto of the measure which was passed unanimously at a meeting held May 20.

The segregation law at first was approved by the mayor and sent to the city clerk for a record. Later, Mr. Ragsdale recalled the measure and attached his veto. This was the subject of a concerted attack by friends of the paper when it was brought back to council Monday afternoon. Aldermen Ben T. Huie and J. Allen Couch and Councilman John A. White contending that the mayor exceeded his authority in recalling it after having once approved it.

City Attorney James L. Mayson held that the act became a law when it was signed and passed to the clerk for record, and that the mayor could not recall it.

Mayor Pro Tem Robert F. Pennington held that the veto was before city council and that if any objection was to be taken it must be taken on the veto only.

Mr. Huie led the fight to override the veto, being supported by Mr. White, Mr. Couch and others.

Every member of city council who was in the room at the time the vote was taken cast his ballot to override the mayor.

Proponents of the act declared that expert legal opinion was to the effect that the measure would be null and void because it did not mention the races, but only "those persons who are forbidden to intermarry."

They declared it should be tried out in the courts despite the fact that similar attempts have suffered in the past. Many efforts to enact a legal segregation law have been made. The Spanish noblemen then drafted a new contract which he mailed to the American woman who has overcome many obstacles in the way of their romance.

With the new contract, it was said, the prince sent a note, saying: "If I ever hear of you, I am afraid of my marriage is off."

It was understood that the Infanta Eulalia, aunt of the Spanish king, had been engaged by the bargaining and commercial aspects of the marriage contract negotiations.

She has favored the marriage, however, in the past although other members of Spanish royalty were reported to have objected. It was necessary for Mrs. Corey to become a Catholic before she could hope to marry the Spanish nobleman.

The Infanta denied published reports that the couple had been married at San Remo, Italy, last Saturday. Mrs. Corey formerly was the wife of William E. Corey, Pittsburgh millionaire. She first met Don Luis when on her honeymoon in Europe in 1909.

WEDDING BELLS OFF SAYS PRINCE'S MOTHER.
London, June 4.—(Tuesday)—(AP)—The London Express today quotes the Infanta Eulalia as saying that Mrs. Mabelle Gilman Corey has declined to follow her son, Prince Luis, of Orleans, in the simple life he has taken up and therefore their wedding has been indefinitely postponed.

The newspaper prints what it calls an exclusive interview obtained by its Paris correspondent in which the Infanta says, "I bought my son a villa at San Remo and he is living there now very happily. He has taken to gardening. It is so much healthier for him than the night life he used to follow. But now Mrs. Corey says she won't live with him down there and she wants him to come to her chateau."

Flying Colonel Admits Identity To Skipper of Motorboat Who Tells of Helping Lone Eagle.

New London, Conn., June 3.—(AP)—The honeymoon trail of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh is a path across the waters of Long Island Sound.

This was revealed today when Louis Rounds, skipper of a motorboat that plies between New London and Block Island, told of helping the flying colonel dock a new motor yacht at Block Island to take on supplies Saturday.

Rounds' report led to discovery that Colonel Lindbergh had indeed bought a small yacht just a week before his secret marriage to Miss Anne Morrow, daughter of Ambassador to Mexico Dwight D. Morrow, a week ago today in the Morrow home in Englewood, N. J.

While reporters were searching for the famous flier and the ambassador's daughter on land and in the air or on board the yacht of one of his wealthy friends, the honeymoon pair slipped quietly down to the waterfront and sailed away in their new boat, purchase of which had kept them a close secret.

Their trail was not picked up until today and then it was a cold trail, two days old and leading out over the broad waters. So the Lindberghs still enjoyed their hard-won privacy today.

Rounds said he recognized the aviator despite dark sun glasses and that Lindbergh acknowledged his identity when questioned. Rounds' mate and Elmo works in Englewood, N. J., but that he had taken instruction in its operation from the company. For despite his proficiency operating planes in the sky and automobiles on the ground, he was a novice as a yachtsman.

Council Votes 28 to 0 To Override Mayor—Mayor Rules Ragsdale Exceeded Authority.

MARRIAGE TAKES PLACE AT "ACTORS' CHURCH"

Douglas Fairbanks Jr. and Bride.

New York, June 3.—(AP)—Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., screen star, and Lucille Fay Le Sueur, known on the screen as Joan Crawford, were married today by the Rev. Edward F. Leibold at St. Malachy's Roman Catholic church.

The ceremony took place in the rectory of the church, which is known as the "Actors' Church," shortly after the couple obtained a marriage license at the city hall, when Fairbanks said they would not be married until some time in the fall.

Beth Sully, mother of the bride, groom and first wife of Douglas Fairbanks, attended the ceremony. A telegram of congratulations was received by them from Mr. Fairbanks' father.

Customs Guard Charged With Sending Threatening Letter To Lindy's Sister-in-Law.

Boston, June 3.—(AP)—The Boston Herald in a copyrighted article tomorrow will say that postoffice inspectors have traced the source of threatening letters sent recently to Constance Morrow, daughter of Dwight W. Morrow, ambassador to Mexico, and other prominent persons, to a waterfront.

Others who received letters similar to those sent the 15-year-old sister-in-law of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, according to the Herald story, were Frederick H. Ragsdale, president of the First National bank, of Chicago, and the family of Francis St. John Smith, South college student, whose body was found several months ago in the Connecticut river at Springfield.

In each instance the letters demanded large sums of money.

The letter to Mrs. Morrow was received by her at Milton academy where she is a student. Upon receipt of it she left hurriedly for New York where she was met by Colonel Lindbergh and taken by airplane with other members of the family to the Morrow summer home at North Haven, Maine, where she was closely guarded for more than a week before she returned to her home at Englewood, N. J., for the wedding of her sister Anne to Lindbergh.

Romance of Mabel Corey
And Prince Nearing Rocks

MARRIAGE DATE IS CAUSE OF TROUBLE

BY PRINCESS ALI FAZIL,
United News Staff Correspondent.

Paris, June 3.—The romance of Mrs. Mabelle Gilman Corey, former Broadway star, and Don Luis, of Bourbon, cousin of the king of Spain, appeared to be drifting dangerously near the rocks today, although their marriage date recently was set for this month.

Mrs. Corey's lawyers met attorneys for Don Luis here this afternoon in an effort to negotiate a marriage contract and settlement. It appeared that arrangements would be difficult.

Attorneys for Mrs. Corey announced several weeks ago that a draft marriage contract had been completed, providing a settlement. This was transmitted to the prince's lawyers.

Don Luis, however, declined to sign because he claimed the amount of the customary marriage dot did not correspond to verbal statements which previously had been made. The Spanish nobleman then drafted a new contract which he mailed to the American woman who has overcome many obstacles in the way of their romance.

With the new contract, it was said, the prince sent a note, saying: "If I ever hear of you, I am afraid of my marriage is off."

It was understood that the Infanta Eulalia, aunt of the Spanish king, had been engaged by the bargaining and commercial aspects of the marriage contract negotiations.

Alderman E. A. Gilliam's Proposal Would Add Many Thousands To Atlanta's Population.

PUBLIC HEARING
TO BE HELD SOON

Measure Goes To Charter Revision Body; East Point, College Park, Hapeville Not Included.

Blanket annexation of additional territory to Atlanta in all directions so that the size of the city would be increased approximately one-half and its population by many thousands, is proposed in a measure offered Monday afternoon to city council and referred to the charter revision committee for a public hearing.

Alderman Ed A. Gilliam, of the twelfth ward and chairman of the charter revision committee, is author of the paper and will set the date for the hearing at the earliest possible moment, he stated.

Included in the improved sections which would be added to the city are Buckhead, Haynes Manor, Brookwood Hills, Peachtree Heights, Druid Hills, the Collier developments, Ansley Park and East Lake golf courses, Lakewood, all of the John A. White and I. N. Ragsdale park tracts and hundreds of acres of land in the southern and eastern sections of the county.

East Point, College Park and Hapeville would not be included under the plan as offered by Mr. Gilliam.

There are seven district plots proposed in the measures which Mr. Gilliam offered, and which the charter revision committee will consider.

If council approved the papers they must have the sanction of the Georgia legislature before becoming effective and any annexation requires charter revision.

Minute and technical description of the various tracts follows:

"Parcel No. 1:
Beginning at a point on the line between land lots 159 and 190, of the 17th district of Fulton county, where same intersects the existing city limits; thence north along said line and following the west line of land lots 158 and 157, of said district, to the northwest corner of said land lot 157; thence east along the north line of land lots 144, 143 and 142, of said district, to the northeast corner of said land lot 137; thence north along the west line of land lot 153 of said district to the northwest corner of land lot 142; thence east along

Adams told Judge Moore that on the night of the robbery he had gone home, neglecting to lock the back door of the store and that he returned later and locked the door, also taking with him $63 from the cash register which he said he wanted to protect.

Police who investigated the robbery failed to corroborate Adams' story, saying that their investigation revealed he had torn a board off the rear of the store to gain entrance.

Judge Moore also sentenced Harold Bell, a burglar, to five years on a plea of guilty to robbing the Courtyard drugstore in Peachtree road. He was arrested by County Policemen Al Stovall and J. G. Casey, when they found him in the act of burglarizing the store.

Boy Scouts of Atlanta To Hold Circus Tonight

Giving instructions in semaphore signaling, a part of Scout work, which will be one of the phases of Scout life to be depicted in the huge pageant that will feature the Atlanta Boy Scouts' circus tonight at the city auditorium.

Opening with addresses by Mayor N. N. Roselle and Superintendent of Schools Willis A. Sutton, the huge scout circus, for which members of the Boy Scout troops of Atlanta have been rehearsing for months, will be held tonight at the city auditorium.

Stated to be one of the most elaborate displays of scout activities and training witnessed in this section, the Boy Scout circus, the event will be featured by a pageant depicting the ritual and fundamental phases of scout life, and the performance of the scout drum and file corps, which has been brought close to perfection under the steady training of E. E. Davenport and Scoutmaster F. G. Smith.

The territorial band of the Salvation Army will participate in the program. Organization of the scout circus was under supervision of W. A. Dobson, executive of the Atlanta council, assisted by Scoutmaster Harry E. Lind.

SENIOR HIGH CLASS DAY IS OBSERVED BY N. A. P. SCHOOL
Senior high class day of the North Avenue Presbyterian school was observed Monday afternoon, as a part of the annual graduating exercises of the school which will take place at 8:15 o'clock tonight at the Atlanta Woman's Club auditorium.

The first part of the afternoon program was given over to announcements of honors and awards for the year. The awards follow: For best attendance honors, won by Elizabeth Alexander, Frances Clarke, Delphine Jones, Mary Snow and Mildred Williamson. The class cup was won by the senior class, The U. L. C. and D. A. R. medals were presented to Clement A. Evans, Miss Evelyn Floyd won the Dorothy Partridge Memorial cup and Miss Judy Morgan was presented with the honor cup.

Miss Mary Belle Carson won the title of "Neposia," the senior chosen as the most representative student of North Avenue Presbyterian school. She was robed and crowned by the junior marshal, Miss Judy Morgan.

COURT REFUSES TO OPPOSE COUNTY GOLF COURSE WORK
Superior Judge John D. Humphries Monday refused a petition of an injunction against officials of Fulton county to halt the construction of a road to a municipal golf course near College Park.

The petition was sought by Newton S. Thomas, proprietor of the Black Rock County Club, who sought to restrain the county from furnishing the labor and material for the construction of the road to the South Fulton Club, which he claimed had been reconveyed to a private concern by the city of College Park.

Judge Humphries refused to grant the injunction after College Park officials testified that the golf course was to be run by the city for the pleasure of the citizens of Fulton county.

TWO TENNESSEE GIRLS TO ATTEND GALVESTON SHOW
Nashville, Tenn., June 3.—(AP)—Tennessee's pulchritude puzzle was solved Monday by the state's winner. Consequently, this state will have two representatives at the Galveston international beauty pageant.

The squabble came about Saturday night when six official judges voted Miss Nashville the winner, while Earle Reese, pageant representative, announced Miss Lenoir City should have the right to be called Miss Tennessee. W. L. Roe, director of the Galveston beauty show, settled the dispute by inviting both girls.

So, Miss Margaret Garrett will represent Miss Nashville at the pageant and Miss Willie Taylor will go to Galveston as Miss Tennessee.

COAST IS HEALTHFUL
Georgia Death Rate Along Sea Line Is Very Low.

Seacoast resort towns of Georgia are more healthful than any resorts on the Atlantic coast, according to a bulletin issued Monday by the state department of health which was prepared by Dr. M. E. Winchester, director of county health work. Dr. Winchester has prepared a chart showing that the death rate along the Georgia coast is lower than any other portion of the seacoast country. Brunswick has a death rate of 11.9 per 1,000 people as compared to 14.1 for Washington, D. C., 16.4 for Miami, 19.5 for Jacksonville, 19.9 for Charleston and 20.1 for Atlantic City.

NEGRO IS GIVEN LIFE FOR PEAVY MURDER

Jury Finds Stinson Guilty of Slaying at Harris and Courtland.

Recommending mercy and carrying with its verdict a sentence of life imprisonment, a jury in Superior Judge Virlyn B. Moore's court Monday found Paul Stinson, a negro, guilty of the murder of Robert Peavy, a white man.

The jury reached its verdict after debating the case slightly more than an hour.

Peavy was shot and killed on the night of April 27 at Courtland and Harris streets. Stinson was placed on trial last week, but the trial was postponed when efforts to obtain a jury failed because all panels were exhausted by prospective jurors reporting themselves opposed to capital punishment.

The state's case was built around the testimony of Detective John W. Lowe, who testified that he had found a pistol in Stinson's possession and that the bullets it fired were peculiar in shape and corresponded with the bullets taken from Peavy's body when it was disinterred several weeks ago. The bullets fired by the pistol as well as the one removed from Peavy's body were introduced into the evidence.

Stinson was prosecuted by Assistant Solicitor-General John Hudson. His defense was an alibi.

WESTERN UNION CO. TO ENLARGE ATLANTA BUILDING

Issuance Monday of a building permit for $150,000 to the Western Union Company by Building Inspector C. J. Bowen disclosed plans for extensive improvements and alterations on the Western Union building at the southwest corner of Marietta and Forsyth streets.

The permit was taken out by L. H. Matthews of the Western Union Company. The office building, formerly known as the Brown building, will be completely renovated and furnished with additional equipment.

SLICER, NORMAN WILL GO ON TRIAL HERE NEXT WEEK

The trial of J. Sam Slicer and T. J. Norman, former officials of the defunct Colonial Trust Company, will take place a week from today. Solicitor-General John A. Boykin announced Monday.

Norman and Slicer are accused of violation of the state banking laws in the collapse of the bank.

The trial will be before Superior Judge Virlyn B. Moore.

ATLANTA-LOWRY BANK EMPLOYEES IN ALL-DAY OUTING

The first summer outing of the year was enjoyed Monday by the Atlanta and Lowry National Bank Club with an all-day picnic and sports meet at the Marietta Golf Club.

The 300 officers and employees of the Atlanta and Lowry National Bank and Trust Company of Georgia spent the day at the club with a barbecue served at noon. Those who desired to play golf or tennis had ample opportunity, while others danced all the afternoon and evening to the music of a jazz orchestra.

Mexico City, June 3.—(AP)—The Peruvian good-will fliers landed at Val Buena field at 6:11 p. m. after a flight from New Orleans. Captain Carlos Pinillos and Lieutenant Carlos Zegarra are en route from Washington to Lima. Their Bellanca monoplane left New Orleans at 5:05 a. m. central standard time.

COQUINA HOTEL AT ORMOND BEACH SOLD AT AUCTION

Daytona Beach, Fla., June 3.—(AP)—The Coquina hotel, a 200-room hostelry at Ormond Beach, was sold at an auction in Volusia county circuit court here today to Harrington Mills, Washington, D. C., for $190,100 cash.

The hotel, of Moorish design, had been operated during the past two years by W. T. Boyard for the Associated Hotels, Inc.

Mills, the purchaser today, announced he would repair the building and open it about January 1, next. He is the owner of the Saranac inn and the Whiteface inn in the Adirondack mountains in New York and the Harrington hotel and the Hotel Grafton in Washington.

POLICE COMMITTEE VACANCY IS GIVEN TO NELSON SPRATT

Councilman Nelson Spratt, of the tenth ward and one of the most popular members of general council, Monday was named a member of the Atlanta police committee to succeed the late Councilman Sam Wardlaw.

Mayor L. N. Ragsdale made the selection late Monday afternoon, declaring that he had decided to assign Mr. Spratt to the post because of the latter's fine record as a conservative and constructive member of general council.

"We all feel keenly the loss sustained by the departure of Mr. Wardlaw," the mayor said. "I have decided to name Mr. Spratt to succeed him as a member of the police committee believing that Mr. Spratt will give faithful and good service there as he has done on numerous other important committee assignments."

Merita brings a Long Loaf today

You have asked for it

It is so hard to find Merita quality in other breads. So Merita users have stuck to Merita.

Yet many Merita housewives want to try the long loaf—and have asked us for it.

We have met your wishes. You may have Merita now in either the Long or the Standard loaf.

Just ask your grocer for the shape you prefer. But be sure you ask for Merita.

More Slices More Sandwiches

There are more slices in the long loaf. There are more sandwiches, too. Many find it more convenient and more economical.

There is such a Difference

In the Merita long loaf you will find the same flavor and freshness you have always found in Merita.

That is so important, for there is such a difference in breads.

Flavor and Freshness

If you haven't compared Merita you just can't realize the difference.

Its Flavor is rich, creamy, delightful. There is milk in Merita, lots of it. You'll taste it, too.

Its Freshness, its delicate cell walls and tiny little cells so close together. These keep the air out and Merita stays fresh so much longer.

Try the Long Loaf of Merita. You'll see the difference.

MADDOX HAD TO GIVE UP BUSINESS DUE TO HEALTH

Atlanta Man Says Sargon Restored Strength and Energy When Everything Else Failed; Gains 9 Lbs.

"The Sargon treatment has put me in better health than I have been for two years. I built me up nine pounds, and I feel full of new life and energy. This remarkable medicine brought these wonderful benefits to me after I had been forced to quit business on account of my health.

I had always been a strong, healthy man until two years ago when my health began to break. I suffered with indigestion and nausea, and my appetite failed. I seldom got a good night's sleep on account of nervousness, and my badly run-down condition made me cross and irritable. Sick headaches were frequent.

"Every few months I would have had bilious attacks, and would be so dreadfully constipated that I would have to dose up on calomel and castor oil, and sometimes I had to resort to enemas. My system was so full of poisons that a rash broke out all over my body, and itched so bad it almost drove me distracted. My whole system was run-down and I just had to give up and quit work.

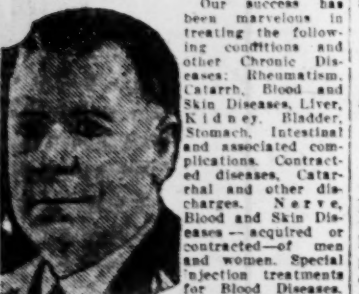

"Now after taking three bottles of Sargon I have a splendid appetite and can eat just anything I want without a sign of indigestion or other trouble. My nerves have gotten steady again, and I sleep like a child all night. The bilious attacks and constipation have been completely overcome, all the poisons have been driven out of my system, and the rash has cleared up. I never have headaches now.

"I am certainly grateful to Sargon because it restored my health after every other medicine I tried had failed. It has strengthened my whole system, and put me in shape for work again. I cannot say too much for this wonderful medicine."

The above statement was made by V. S. Maddox, 580 Seminole Ave., N. E., Atlanta. He was in the retail grocery business for many years but had to retire on account of his health. He is a member of the First Baptist church and Piedmont Masonic Lodge No. 447.

Sales of Sargon are setting new records all over the country. The special Sargon representative at Jacobs' main store, 6 and 8 Marietta street, is explaining the merits of this revolutionary new medicine to hundreds daily. Sargon may be obtained at all Jacobs' drug stores throughout Atlanta.—(adv.)

STORMS HOLD TWO PLANES IN MAINE ON ATLANTIC HOP

Old Orchard, Maine, June 3.—(P)—Storms threw a barrier across the projected trans-Atlantic courses of the Green Flash and the Yellow Bird and their crews contemplated no takeoff for Rome and Paris, respectively, today. Advice from Dr. James H. Kimball, New York meteorologist, indicated that an area of gales and generally bad weather extended over the Atlantic air lanes.

Roger Q. Williams and Lewis A. Yancey, of the Green Flash, and the French fliers, Rene Assolant and Rene Le Fevre, hoped to start tomorrow. The Frenchmen planned a test flight today to determine the fuel mixture required to lift the Yellow Bird from the beach with a minimum of vibration. Vibration of the motor caused their return last Wednesday after a take-off for Paris.

All Gassed Up and Rarin' to Go!

(It's only a two days drive to Baltimore in my car.)

—But I told you before, they ain't no use goin' to New York till I "git up" this $20,000.00.

All day long Monday my stores were filled with eager buyers, all the way from Greenville, S. C., to Savannah, and what I'm talkin' 'bout, they had the Jack in their hands lookin' for them Palm Beach suits I'm sellin' for 'bout HALF PRICE.

A good old Scotch mother from Calhoun, Ga., who bought suits for the two plough boys she had with her, confidentially told me that her Jack was runnin' low so she brought a coop of chickens down to the Tennessee Egg Company and cashed 'em in to make it possible to buy her two boys Palm Beach suits this week while she could get 'em at half price at Metcalf's. And that ain't all, either. I got extra Palm Beach pants for men for $1.99 (and you know the law compels you to wear 'em), and beautiful broadcloth shirts for 99c, and good-looking straw hats (all sizes) for 99c.

Maybe you, too, can cash-in somethin' and get a new outfit at Metcalf's this week. I tell you I got to git-up this $20,000.00 to go to New York and it ain't no schoolboy's job, but I'm gittin' it up all right, 'cause I'm sellin' good honest merchandise for about half the price you're asked to pay in your ole home town.

Woman Near Death In Rome Hospital After Auto Crash

Rome, Ga., June 3.—(P)—Mrs. W. H. Gaylor, boarding housekeeper, was in the hospital here today with slender chance of recovery from a fractured skull suffered Saturday night when her automobile collided with a street car. Mrs. Gaylor was driving her automobile out of a side street when she crashed into the street car. In addition to a fractured skull her right leg was broken and her body received many abrasions.

Mrs. Gaylor, who is about 40 years old, has three sons.

Supreme Court Refuses Review Of Negro Deed Case

Washington, June 3.—(P)—The supreme court today refused to review the action of the lower courts of the District of Columbia, sustaining certain deeds to property prohibiting its sale to negroes.

Edward G. and Susie B. Russell, property owners, conveyed property to Edgar T. Newton and other negroes. White owners of near-by property contended the deed by which the Russells obtained the property contained a covenant prohibiting its sale to negroes and the courts of the district held the covenant valid.

The Russells, as owners of the property, and the negroes to whom they sold contented the covenant was an unlawful restraint upon the right to transfer property and was unconstitutional.

Clear, Cooler Weather Due Locally Today

The advent of real summer hereabouts will receive a slight and temporary setback due to the fact that chilly breezes will blow in from the Ohio valley sending the mercury down below 60 for a minimum this morning, according to the official forecast of C. F. von Herrmann, local meteorologist, who states that the clouds of Monday afternoon will have vanished by the time Old Sol gets ready for business today.

"Clear and cooler" is the way he sees the situation.

As a forerunner of the expected chilly day, the official thermometer showed a minimum of 64 Monday morning, climbed only three degrees between then and noon and reached a maximum of 70 in the middle of the afternoon. Today's top figure will be a little over 75, Mr. von Herrmann figures.

Chilly weather also prevails in other parts of the country. Toledo and Duluth reporting minimums of 38 and 32, respectively, the lowest on record for June 2.

LIGHTNING HITS GIRL SITTING INSIDE HOUSE

INSANE HOSPITAL PATIENTS ROUTED BY SMALL BLAZE

Rochester, N. Y., June 3.—(P)—Two hundred male patients at the state hospital for the insane were thrown into wild confusion today by a fire of undetermined origin which started in a bed in a ward occupied by 36 patients. Although damage was slight, nurses and attendants had great difficulty quieting their charges and leading them from the threatened wing.

LOS ANGELES IS HOST TO SHRINERS OF U. S.

Medina Temple Sends Delegation of 1,500 to Convention.

Los Angeles, June 3.—(P)—The city of Los Angeles became the official playgrounds of Free Masonry today as the last of numerous trainloads of Shriners arrived for their 55th annual convention, which formally opens tomorrow.

The downtown section was a riot of color and a bedlam of noise. While Shrine bands blared their melodies and auto horns and sirens shrieked, the delegations climbed out of their Pullmans and marched, perspiring but happy, to their various headquarters to check in.

Heading the list of arrivals today was a delegation of 1,500 Shriners from Medina Temple, Chicago, the order's largest temple. This delegation had an entire train. Twenty other trains brought notables from many other sections and cities. Two business sessions were held. Records of the temples met in executive session and the trustees of the Shrine hospitals held a conference with Sam P. Cochrane, of Dallas, Texas, presiding. While these meetings were in session the Shrine Jeeters, the organization which develops the comic rites for the convention, laid their plans for amusements for the next three days.

Rogers Brushing Lacquer Leads the World

Here are the reasons:

BEFORE it was placed on the market, years of intensive scientific research were devoted to perfecting it.

Thousands of experiments were made and 1183 different formulas developed and tested in order to arrive at the perfection which has made Rogers Brushing Lacquer world famous.

Constantly Improved

Although an amazing success from the very beginning, our scientists have continued their search for further perfection. Improvement has followed improvement at the rate of one every 63 days—14 to date.

New refinements have added easier brushing and leveling out qualities, increased durability, a more uniform gloss and deeper, more permanent colors. And now, a pleasant new odor!

These and many more improvements continue to hold "Rogers" in a class by itself.

Back of "Rogers" quality are the accumulated scientific and technical experience as well as the vast manufacturing resources of the world's most powerful group of paint makers.

SOLD UNDER MONEY-BACK GUARANTY

The standard of perfection—a true brushing lacquer, with remarkable covering qualities. Easily applied. Dries while you wait to a smooth, glossy, almost indestructible finish, without laps, streaks or brush marks. Will not lift the undercoat. Choice of 26 beautiful colors.

DETROIT POLICE RADIO
TOPIC OF TALK TODAYVisiting Commissioner To Speak On Police Radio
This Morning.

Commissioner of Police, W. P. Rutledge, of Detroit, Mich., will speak at 9:50 this morning, on the roof of the Ansley hotel, before the International Association of Chiefs of Police, on "The Use of Radio in Police Work."

Detroit is the first city in the world to use the radio in apprehending criminals. Since the radio has been in use in that city many crimes have been quickly solved.

Atlanta city council has recommended the use of the police radio in this city and plans are being worked out now whereby every police car will be equipped with radio receiving sets and a central broadcasting station will be used to send out messages of burglary, holdups, petty thievery and other crimes.

It is also planned for the county to equip their police cars with radio receiving sets and co-operate with the city in reducing crime in Fulton county.

B. Graham West, city controller, as soon as he is able will begin work on the June finance sheet and an appropriation for the radio will probably be included. Wiley L. Moore, chairman of the seventh ward, chairman of the city finance committee, stated that approximately $10,000 will be necessary to install the radio equipment.

SHE knew the compliment to be true—for the last pimple had vanished.

If you are one of the embarrassed—and men are not exceptions—with skin blemishes that linger, and sometimes leave scars, you must realize that the logical cause may come from the blood.

A clear, smooth, velvety skin bespeaks loveliness. Men admire it. Women praise and secretly envy. Hope, joy, happiness, and even love, may depend on the possession of a clear, unblemished skin.

On the other hand—skin eruptions are outward evidences of the condition within. Authorities state it is an indication that the body's power of resistance to disease and infection is low. Meaning, that there is a deficiency of red-blood-cells.

Without plenty of rich, red blood, there could be no strong, sturdy, powerful men, or beautiful, healthy women.

When you get your red-blood-cells back to normal, that sluggish let-down feeling, loss of appetite, boils, pimples, and skin troubles disappear. You get hungry again and you sleep soundly; firm flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby. You feel strong. Your nerves become steady. You are resistant to diseases.

S.S.S. is Nature's own tonic for improving the appetite, building strength, and clearing the body of so-called skin troubles, by increasing the red-cells of the blood.

S.S.S. is made from fresh vegetable drugs and has stood the test of over 100 years.

All Drug Stores sell S.S.S. in the larger size. It is more economical.

Return of Tarzan (This Week Brief Review of Tarzan's Early History as Shown in Previous Strips)

By E. R. Burroughs

A year from the day her little son was born, Lady Greystoke, in the cabin Lord Greystoke built in the jungle, passed quietly away in the night. Her end was peaceful and the horror of the situation came to him very slowly—the fearful responsibility that had devolved upon him with the care of his still nursing infant son.

Old Kerchak, the Ape King, wanted very, very much to own the little black stick, as he thought of Greystoke's gun, that had often roared out its terrible message of death to some member of the tribe. In his wrath he had killed the infant of Kala, a young female of the tribe, who now joined sullenly in the march with the dead little ape in her arms. Noisefully they crept through the jungle toward the little cabin.

Kerchak entered. Greystoke rose with a sudden start and faced him. The sight that met his eye must have frozen him with horror! His revolver and rifle hung on the far wall. Within the door stood three great bull apes. Behind them crowded many more—HOW MANY HE NEVER KNEW!

When the king ape released the limp form that had been Lord Greystoke, he turned his attention toward the little cradle. Kala was there before him, and ere he could intercept her, snatched the child herself, dropping her own dead babe in the cradle, and bolted through the door.

Kala would not allow the other apes to touch her adopted baby. She held the small form of the little Lord Greystoke tightly to her breast, repulsing with bared fangs and low, menacing growls the apes who attempted to examine this strange baby. Tenderly, Kala nursed her little waif.

Sentence of Six Months
For Sinclair Is Upheld
By U. S. Supreme CourtSentence Growing Out of Jury-Shadowing Case
To Follow Present Ninety-Day Term.

Washington, June 3.—(P)—Harry F. Sinclair, multi-millionaire oil magnate, must remain a prisoner in the District of Columbia jail at least six months longer, the supreme court ruled today in upholding his sentence for jury shadowing.

He has already served one month of a three-month sentence for contempt of court and grew out of Sinclair's jury shadowing activities during his trial with a former Secretary of Interior Fall on a charge of conspiracy to defraud the government.

The two sentences together would keep Sinclair in jail nine months, leaving eight still to be served. It is understood, however, that he can demand immediate commitment to serve the second sentence and will serve concurrently the last two months of his first sentence and the first two months of his second.

This would cut down the total time served by two months and good behavior would reduce it five days a month or approximately one month more. Thus he probably will not remain in jail more than six months. This would leave him free to resume active direction of his vast business before Christmas.

Besides upholding Sinclair's conviction for jury shadowing, the supreme court decreed that two of his codefendants in the jury shadowing case must pay the penalties imposed by the trial court and that a third codefendant shall be allowed to go unpunished. Henry Mason Day, one of Sinclair's codefendants, must serve four months in jail, and W. Sherman Burns, a private detective, must pay a $1,000 fine.

William J. Burns, founder of the famous Burns Detective Agency and father of W. Sherman, was sentenced to 15 days by the lower court but the supreme court nullified this sentence.

The supreme court decision, read by Justice McReynolds, represented the unanimous opinion of all but one member. Justice Stone did not participate in the determination of the case because he was attorney-general during part of the oil litigation.

The opinion held that although the Burns detectives retained by Sinclair did not establish direct contact with the jury in the conspiracy trial, they still interfered with the "exercise of calm and informed judgment of its members."

"The mere suspicion that he, his family and friends were being subjected to surveillance by such persons is enough to destroy the equilibrium of the average juror and render impossible the exercise of calm judgment upon patient consideration."

"If those fit for jury service understand that they may be freely subjected to treatment like that here disclosed, they will either shun the burdens of service or perform it with distrust and disgust."

Concerning the contention of the defense that it was merely doing what the justice department officers did in watching jurors, McReynolds said in substance that a wrongful practice by the department does not make that practice right for itself or anyone else.

Trial Began in 1927.

The trial of Sinclair and Fall on conspiracy charges began October 18, 1927. When the jurors were given their final instructions, Sinclair determined to have them watched, explaining later he feared his enemies might attempt to influence the jury.

Fifteen agents were imported from nearby cities and immediately set to work investigating the jurors. Local quarters were set up in a local hotel and daily reports were submitted. After the first three days of the trial, the detectives spent most of their energies on three jurors—Edward J. Kidwell, John P. Kerp and Norman L. Glascock.

It was disclosed that Kidwell, in discussing the case with a newspaper reporter, said he expected "a big case" and "a big block" for Sinclair. Reports of the detectives, which later became court record, characterized Kidwell as a "wild kid." They described Kerp as "quite a sport."

Glascock was shadowed by an agent who called himself Long but whose real name was McMullen. In the court trial, McMullen testified for the state that the detective in charge of the jury shadowing instructed him to report falsely that Glascock was seen out of court in conversation with an assistant district attorney.

Headquarters of the detectives were raided by government agents on October 21, the record was confiscated; and on November 2, a mistrial was declared in the conspiracy case. Later Sinclair was tried alone and acquitted. Fall was allowed to go to his home because of illness and the charge against him is still pending.

He declared that America, more than any other English-speaking nation, is a country of common law and, in this respect, more like seventeenth and eighteenth century England than England herself today.

The speaker gave an illuminating history of Judge Jeffries and Judge Brafild, famous jurists of England and Scotland, respectively, who, despite the fact that their decisions have proved to be far-reaching, nevertheless have been painted by historians as villains of the darkest hue. It was these judges, he said, acting in the capacity of prosecutors as well, who instilled in their political opponents a hatred of this form of procedure which was brought across the ocean to become so drastically changed.

Over-Zealousness a Hazard.

"These men were products of their times," the speaker went on, "and the result of their rather high-handed methods was to overturn much that they tried to do. This situation carries a warning for us. There is a danger in securing convictions at any cost and by over-riding constitutional safeguards in the interest of crime prevention."

The world has outgrown the days of Jeffries and Brafild," he declared, "so give these judges a chance and a proper scope to use their real strength in the administration of justice—the greatest interest of man on earth."

'HEARTS IN DIXIE'
IS ROMANTIC FILM
AT LOEW'S CAPITOL

A glimpse into the life of a people fast passing and that very few persons know anything about is waiting for you this week at Loew's Capitol. It is an all-talking picture, "Hearts in Dixie." It is the life of the field hands on a large plantation, and their joy and sorrow as important to them as yours to you.

The plantation negro is about the only romantic thing left of the old romantic south. These colored people are born, live and die on the same place are unchanging, just the same as they were back before the Civil war.

"Hearts in Dixie" hasn't much of a plot. But it is a good picture. The story is a simple one, composed entirely of colored people—all of them good singers. The film centers largely around life in the quarters, after the day's work is over. If it so happened that you were raised in the country on a plantation, seeing this picture will take you back there. The negroes sing their songs, cutting the buck, a typical country wedding, the old hoodoo woman and all the rest of it, a trifling colored country boy and his sweetie wife.

The picture completely over-shadows the vaudeville bill, which is good in spots. The best thing on the stage is "The Monologist," which moves along at a rollicking pace with the aid of several "plants" out front. "Love in the Dark," a fanciful sort of production, provides some fair singing. "The Convey Twins and Looselove Johnny" are good at times. O'Neil and Manners provide an old-time vaudeville turn that is good. The Howard Girls open the bill with an acrobatic act. Al Wohlman, on the screeching sheet, offers a few songs and Fox Morone, with two short interesting topics round out the program.

'BLOCKADE' PROVES
THRILLING PICTURE
AT METROPOLITAN

All the thrills that come with running and hijacking are combined to make "Blockade" one of the best pictures seen and heard in Atlanta recently and seemed pleasing to the large audience Monday night at the Metropolitan, where it is showing all this week.

Anna Q. Nilsson, blonde beauty and star of "Ponjola," is the heroine and reaches new heights in her role as run-runner and prohibition agent. She is ably supported by Francis McDonald, Walter McGrail and an all star cast.

The story deals with a man whose name is above reproach, a business leader in his home town, a public benefactor and one who fights for law enforcement, but when caught up with a leader of one of the biggest rum rings to ply the high seas. This is where Miss Nilsson exhibits her wonderful acting—as a hijacker and then repents and becomes a government prohibition agent catching the entire gang of run-runners.

On the program is a Mack Sennett comedy, "Motoring Mania," from "The tired business man series," which furnishes plenty of laughs and enjoyment. Phil Baker is seen and heard in a Vitaphone act, "A Night in Spain," where he learns all about the Spanish bull fights.

This well-rounded program is concluded with a Fox Movietone reel which covers the world with the camera.

Revision of City Ward Lines
To Await Recommendation
Of Councilmanic Committee

Establishment of Thirteenth Ward Also Will Be Turned Over To Body of Five.

Sweeping revision of the lines of Atlanta's dozen wards is contemplated in a resolution passed Monday by city council and establishment of a proposed new thirteenth ward in Atlanta will await recommendation of a special councilmanic committee of five which will be named to investigate the proposed ward line changes in order to "distribute property and population more equitably."

Alderman J. Allen Couch, of the fifth ward, is author of the measure to name the special committee to revise the ward lines. It was offered as a substitute for a recommendation of the charter revision committee, headed by Alderman Ed A. Gilliam, that the thirteenth ward be established.

Action of council in adopting the Couch amendment, those casting ballots against the substitute were Alderman Williamson and Councilman Brennan. Cobb and Schuchman. Members of the eighth and ninth ward delegations in council fought a losing battle to push the thirteenth ward proposal through.

GIRL FOUND STABBED
IN OFFICE BUILDING

Miss Virginia Cox, 20, secretary in a downtown office, is in Grady hospital in a serious condition as the result of a stab wound near the heart.

Miss Cox, screaming, was found, partly bound and gagged, a sharp-pointed steel rod piercing her breast, early Monday afternoon in the woman's rest room of the Peachtree building, Peachtree and Baker streets.

The young woman was found by Mrs. W. M. Lyett, who had been attracted by her screams and who called in Dr. E. B. Pearce, who has offices in the building and who removed the steel rod, resembling an ice pick, from Miss Cox's body.

She was taken to the hospital, where she was questioned by detectives. Police reports of the investigation into the case were not available Monday night.

Miss Cox is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy H. Cox, 2733 Peachtree road. Her parents told the detectives, who physicians who treated her wounds that the young woman had been acting "queerly" for the last several months.

When Dr. Pearce removed the steel rod, he said Miss Cox told him that she had been tied hand and foot by a "dark complexioned man" who immediately afterward stabbed her and fled.

Dr. Pearce described the rod as being about a foot long and a quarter of an inch in diameter. The wound was about three inches deep.

Physicians at the hospital said Monday night Miss Cox would recover.

BURNS' COMPANION
DRUGGED, KIDNAPED

Chicago, June 3.—(P)—Harry Wilson, negro, was arrested here today on a technical charge, while police investigated a report by Robert Elliott Burns, magazine publisher, that a young woman companion, Miss Lillian Sallo, was kidnapped during a cabaret tour.

Burns is at liberty under bond awaiting decision on requests from Georgia that he be returned to that state to complete a term in the Campbell county chain gang on a charge of robbery. He escaped, and since his conviction in 1922, has become prosperous as a real estate magazine editor here.

Burns' story to police was that he and Miss Sallo had left a cabaret and entered a taxi when the young woman missed her purse. Burns said he started to re-enter the resort to search for it, and a negro jumped into the taxi and was driven away. Burns gave chase but was outdistanced.

After an all-day search, police found Miss Sallo in her own apartment tonight. She asserted she had been drugged and taken to another apartment, but did not explain how she escaped to return to her own apartment.

Witnesses at the cabaret told police the negro who got into the cab was Wilson and he was arrested. He denied the kidnapping and said he entered the cab thinking it was empty. As soon as he discovered his mistake, the negro said, he left the machine.

FIGHT ON CLEAN FOOD
ORDINANCE ABORTIVEMove To Repeal Measure
Affecting Retail Food
Handlers Sent Committee.

Efforts to repeal an ordinance requiring employers of retail food establishments to submit quarterly certificates showing they are free of contagious disease were futile Monday in city council. That body voted to refer a measure offered by Councilman Frank Reynolds, which sought to rescind the former action, to the sanitary committee for further consideration.

Declaring that it will take $15,000 to place the newly enacted measure into effect and that it will be embarrassing to certain organizations who operate cafes for charity, Mr. Reynolds, who is chairman of the sanitary committee, launched a heated fight on the provisions of the ordinance.

Councilman Joseph E. Berman, of the fourth ward, author of the measure, took the floor in its defense, declaring that it was passed to protect the people of Atlanta.

"If safeguarding the lives and health of Atlantans means that any one is to be embarrassed, that is regrettable," Mr. Berman declared, "but I contend that the paper is a good one and should be enforced. It has been estimated that the certificates which will be issued will bring $25,000 into the city treasury annually. If it takes $15,000 to enforce the paper, the city actually will make money and at the same time protect its citizens."

Mr. Reynolds states that the money for enforcement can not be found and further held that it could not be enforced as charitable organizations selling food would not submit to alleged indignities provided in the paper.

Vote to repeal the ordinance measure, which would have nullified the ordinance, was 10 for and 11 against. Councilman John A. White, of the fourth ward, supported his colleague, declaring "the safety of the Atlanta public is worth $100,000 a year in actual cash and even more if necessary."

PERU, CHILE SIGN
TACNA-ARICA PACT
TO END DISPUTE

Lima, Peru, June 3.—(United News).—Peru and Chile signed the Tacna-Arica province settlement treaty, ending a 45-year-old dispute over possession of the two border provinces.

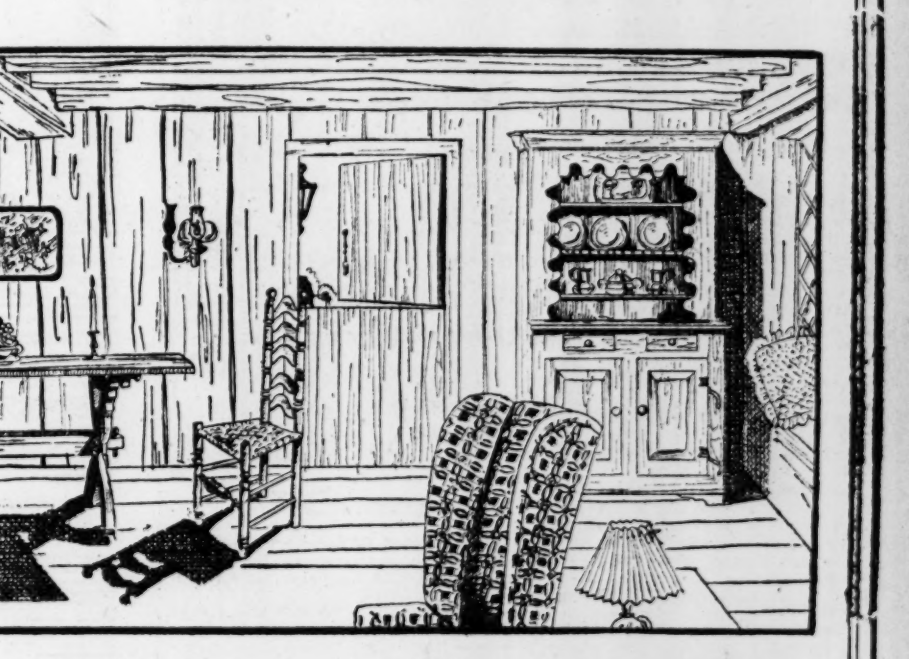

The treaty was signed by Ambassador Emilio Fierabraven for Chile, and Pedro Rada y Gamio, foreign minister, for Peru.

The two signers, who have had prominent parts in negotiations for settlement of the old quarrel, met in the foreign office and presented their credentials authorizing them to sign on behalf of their governments. Copies of the treaty were read and compared with the terms previously agreed upon and the two men then placed their signatures and the seals of their countries on the documents.

Assistant Secretary of State Barrenchea and representatives of both countries witnessed the ceremonies.

HOOVER REPLY TO WONG FIRST POLICY RULING

President To Send Declaration on Chinese Extra-Territorial Rights.

Washington, June 3.—(AP)—President Hoover's first declaration of policy on the question of American extra-territorial rights in China will be made in a note to the Chinese government now being drafted by the state department.

The note will be in reply to a recent one from Dr. C. T. Wang, foreign minister of the National government, urging relinquishment of the extra-territorial privileges.

Secretary Stimson had discussed the Chinese note with President Hoover on several occasions and the president asked that the final draft of the American reply be submitted to him for approval before it is handed to the Chinese minister, Dr. C. T. Wang.

President Hoover spent a number of years in China and is well acquainted with Sino-American affairs and deeply sympathetic with the aspirations of the Chinese to effect a unified nation.

Ready in Few Weeks.

The American reply will be ready for submission to the president within the next few weeks. While no drastic change of policy on the part of the American government is expected, a more liberal attitude toward the Chinese by the Hoover administration is anticipated in official circles.

Dr. Wang in his note pointed out the progress toward unification which the Chinese have made since the nationalist regime came into power and the steps which have been taken to comply with the interests of powers desiring a modernized judicial system. Since this system would replace the present consular jurisdiction over their nationals, the treaty powers are closely following its development.

Changes are Urged.

Changes in the judicial system in China were recommended by the commission in extra-territoriality set up by the nine-power treaty signed in Washington in 1922. Since that time, the Chinese have been working rapidly to bring into being the changes in their judicial system which they began to formulate nearly 30 years ago. They have already negotiated treaties with several powers for the relinquishment of the extra-territorial rights, conditional upon a majority of the powers negotiating similar treaties before January 1, 1930.

The last step taken by the Coolidge administration on the question of extra-territoriality was to address a note on November 22 to the interested powers asking their views on the suggestion of relinquishment of the privileges.

35 GET DIPLOMAS AS YEAR ENDS AT SALEM COLLEGE

Winston-Salem, N. C., June 3.—(Special).—In the presence of an audience that filled Memorial hall, 35 seniors of Salem college today received their diplomas, signifying the successful completion of their course of study. The exercises marked the close of the 158th annual session of the Maravian institution.

Dr. Francis P. Gaines, Ph. D., Litt., president of Wake Forest college, delivered the commencement address, using as his subject "The Values of the College Experience."

President Rindthaler announced the gift by Mrs. W. N. Reynolds of a new dormitory to the college; the gift of an unnamed sum from the Patterson-Bahson-Shaffner families, to be devoted to the immediate erection of three memorial buildings, commemorating the life and services of Mrs. Emma F. Bahson, the late Mrs. Mary F. Patterson and the late Mrs. Carrie E. Shaffner. The building will be erected immediately in accordance with plans restoring the architecture of ancient "Salem." Other gifts by friends to the college endowment and other funds were also announced.

Faded Newspaper Tells Of Jefferson Davis' Visit Here

While formal ceremonies conducted on an elaborate scale at the state capitol Monday marked the 121st anniversary of Jefferson Davis, illustrious president of the Confederacy, tribute to the beloved southerner of a humbler but of just as sincere character was being paid by many Atlantans in their homes as they recalled some personal memory of the statesman or turned to some memento or souvenir that had been left behind by a relative living in the glorious era of President Davis.

Just such homage was forthcoming from Mrs. E. M. Slaughter, who Monday delivered into the family heirloom at her residence at 663 Boulevard, N. E., and brought to light an issue of The Constitution dated Sunday, May 2, 1886. The aged-faded newspaper was bequeathed to Mrs. Slaughter by her father, W. B. Merritt.

The edition of The Constitution which Mr. Merritt had decided 43 years ago to fold away and save as a memento of a notable occasion contains the story of President Davis' visit to Atlanta and an address made by him on the previous day.

The time-yellowed pages of The Constitution reported the incident in this fashion:

"And the most stupendous cheers, Mr. Davis advanced to the edge of the platform. He spoke as follows:

Three Greatest Georgians.

"Ladies and gentlemen: You have been, I believe, generally apprised that no address was to be expected from me. I came here to silently and reverently witness the unveiling of this statue of my friend. I came as one who wanted to show his respect for a man who in victory or defeat was ever the same—brave, courageous and true. If I were asked from Georgia's history to name three men who were fair types of Georgians, I would take Oglethorpe the benevolent, Troup platform and the Confederate president was forced to yield to the popular appeal.

He was introduced by Henry W. Grady, editor of The Constitution, who said, in part: "Had the great man whose memory is perpetuated in this marble, chosen of all men, one witness to his constancy and his courage, he would have chosen this honorable statesman whose presence honors this platform today."

the dauntless, and Hill the faithful." (Great applause.)

In this manner The Constitution issue of 1886 continues to quote the visiting president as he paid respect to one of Georgia's great sons. Perhaps some knowledge of this visit to Atlanta and speech honoring a Georgian was in the minds of some of the civic leaders who Monday returned the respect and homage on the occasion of President Davis' 121st birth anniversary.

Assistant Chief

Assistant Fire Chief O. J. Parker narrowly escaped asphyxiation early Monday morning while directing the fighting a stubborn blaze in the Liberty lunchroom, 66 North avenue.

Mr. Parker was found prostrate on the basement floor by firemen and after an inhalator was used to revive him he was taken to Grady hospital for further treatment. He later was released from the hospital and at his home Monday night he was reported to be much improved.

Call Officers Wright and Norton, who investigated the fire, reported that a gas pipe had burst in the basement and was responsible for the near fatality to Assistant Chief Parker. Considerable damage was done by the fire, according to fire reports.

MRS. EMILY BROWN,

ON MOBILE VISIT

Carrollton, Ga., June 3.—(Special).—Mrs. Emily Brown, wife of the late Judge William F. Brown, of this city, died in Mobile, Ala., today while she was on a visit to her daughter, Mrs. W. D. Anderson.

Mrs. Brown was born in Coweta county and moved to Carrollton with her parents immediately after the Civil War and was married to the late Judge William F. Brown. She joined the Methodist church, south, in her early life.

The following children survive her: Colonel E. J. Brown, engineer corps of the U. S. army, now stationed at San Antonio, Texas; Mrs. W. D. Anderson, Mobile, Ala.; Willis G. Brown, New York; Harry E. Brown, Ensley, Ala.; Paul F. and Ralph Brown, Carrollton; one brother, A. D. Hogan, Carrollton; two sisters, Mrs. M. C. Walker and Mrs. H. W. Culpepper, both of Ensley, Ala. ## NEEDS FOR UNIFORM AIR LAWS ARE CITED

Single Code Is Imperative,
Hartsfield Tells N. A. A.
Meeting.

Plans looking toward the continued development of all aviation activities in Atlanta and Georgia were discussed at the regular meeting of the local chapter of the National Aeronautical Association at the Chamber of Commerce Monday afternoon. William B. Hartsfield, former chairman of the aviation committee of city council and chairman of the legislative committee of the N. A. A. chapter here, made a report to the gathering in which he cited the necessity for having uniform air laws for the state, preferably the federal regulations, and in addition, preventing the enactment of harmful regulations that would hinder rather than help the development of aviation locally.

Philip Alston is heard. Philip Alston, president of the Chamber of Commerce, made a short talk in which he reminded those present that the furthering of all aviation interests was one of the main objectives of the senior chamber for this and future years and promised all possible assistance to the local chapter. B. S. Barker, executive vice president and secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, presented some highly instructive statistics to show the remarkable growth of aviation in recent years and urged continued activity to keep Atlanta abreast of the times. Captain Stanford E. Moses, chairman of the membership and airports committee, who has just returned from a trip to New York and Washington, reported a remarkable interest all along the line in what the south-east was doing in aviation.

Governor Hardman joins. It was announced that Governor Hardman had become a member of the local chapter and would be among the principal speakers at the next meeting June 17.

CIVITANS TO HAVE LADIES AS GUESTS AT LUNCHEON TODAY

The Civitan Club of Atlanta today will hold its first luncheon meeting prior to the 1929 international convention here June 10-12, and a ladies' day program has been arranged for the luncheon at the Atlanta Athletic Club.

Civilians have been invited to attend the luncheon and bring as their guests their wives and sweethearts. The program will be spontaneous, consisting of last-minute discussion of convention plans. Herbert Z. Hopkins, president, will preside.

TATE TAKES OFFICE AS CHAIRMAN TODAY

Change in Highway Board
Chiefs Scheduled at 11
O'Clock Today.

Sam Tate, of Tate, Ga., prominent capitalist and developer, will assume his duties as new chairman of the state highway board, at 11 o'clock Tuesday when John N. Holder, present chairman, tenders his resignation to the governor. The last meeting of the board as at present constituted will be held Tuesday morning in Mr. Holder's office at the capitol when some routine business matters will be handled.

Chairman Holder has written Governor Hardman asking him to be present in the governor's office at 11 o'clock and to have Mr. Tate present to take up his new duties. "I said I would retire voluntarily as chairman of the board by June 8 and I shall keep my pledge," Chairman Holder stated Monday.

The chairman delivered his farewell address to employees of the highway department at a luncheon held at East Point Saturday. After the chairman's speech, he was presented with a new automobile of the sedan type, a gift of the employees of the department. Before relinquishing office, Chairman Holder said he would make recommendations relative to projects that he feels should be included in the new construction program of the board. He said the finances of the department are now in such condition that the board can go ahead with its program for 1929 and 1930.

PHILLIPS BEQUEST TO OGLETHORPE AN ENDOWMENT

Receipt of the bequest of $1,000 to Oglethorpe university by the late Mrs. E. H. Phillips, was announced Monday by Dr. Thorne Jacobs, president of the university. "This amount will, according to the rules of the university, be set aside as a special endowment fund in memory of Mrs. Phillips," President Jacobs stated. "Mrs. Phillips has been a friend of the university and has, I believe, made a subscription on the occasion of each of our local campaigns, as well as through our women's board, of which she is a member."

MOREHOUSE HOLDS 62ND GRADUATION AT 3 P. M. TODAY

Morehouse college will hold its 62nd annual commencement at 3 o'clock this afternoon. At the exercises, which will be held in the chapel, the college will confer 67 bachelor's degrees and one honorary degree of master of arts to B. F. Hubert, president of the Georgia State Industrial college. President Hubert, an alumnus of Morehouse college of the class of 1909, recently was awarded a prize of $100 offered by Colonel Sigo Myers for the best essay on how to improve the city of Savannah. Of the bachelors degrees, 58 will be in arts, seven in science and two in theology.

At last year's commencement, President John Hope announced a conditional offer of $300,000 made by the general education board to the college toward an endowment for the college of liberal arts. It is expected that President Hope will be able to announce this afternoon that more than half of the amount has already been pledged. The commencement speaker will be Dr. John Hope, who for 23 years has been president of the college. Beginning July 1, Dr. Hope also will assume the duties of the presidency of Atlanta university, the new graduate school for negroes that resulted from the recent affiliation of Spelman college, Morehouse college and the old Atlanta university.

When Worry Is Excess Baggage—

Radio, cables, transoceanic telephones sending international news; flashes regarding world important business events—and, now and then, frantic messages from vacationists—"When is such and such a bond due for retirement?"—"Please exercise my rights on this or that stock!"—"Send cash!"

Vacations are all too short to be filled with such demands, so—whether you are going a hundred, a thousand or three thousand miles away—why not entrust all detail, care and responsibility to our Trust Department?

That's the sort of work it was built for. It can act as custodian for you and handle the whole business more accurately than an individual.

The cost?—So moderate that often the quick action on one transaction more than covers it.

W. ZODE SMITH

For Re-election as General Manager of the Atlanta Waterworks

This is a very important department of our city—health depending directly upon the quality of water produced.

Atlanta's water is second to none, and the uniformly high quality is evidenced by you daily.

This department serves more than 300,000 people, and has efficiently, courteously and conscientiously given to our citizens pure water at a low production cost (and has not spent the city's time building political fences) purifying and putting under pressure for consumption daily more than 31,000,000 gallons of good water through 630 miles of mains, and having a gross revenue to the city annually of about $1,885,000.

Your Waterworks is now operated by skilled and experienced people, who know how, and is well managed.

The pumps, filters, basins and distribution system of pipe is valued at more than $20,000,000.

You cannot afford to take a chance. BUSINESS ABILITY and ENGINEERING EXPERIENCE are the proven qualifications of Mr. Smith and his associates.

Van Dyke, Pink Cherry, Mrs. Rose Talbot, Mrs. Moreland Speer, Mrs. Julia O'Keefe Nelson and W. A. Fuller. Service crosses were awarded to three sons of the late Captain Lawrence E. O'Keefe, who served in the World War.

Character of Davis.

In opening his speech, Dr. Small gave a graphic description of the character of Jefferson Davis as follows: "We are met to honor and rejoice in the 121st birthday of one of the great men produced by the human race. We are the heirs of his spirit, his character, his devotion and his heroic martyrdom to the hard fate of force. We honor him, though vanquished among the stars, as an exemplar without a peer, a leader without an ignoble desire and a sufferer for our sakes without a tremor of fear or a murmur of regret. In all the annals of men who have lost their lives in the service of their own people and found them again in the reverence of their posterity, none outshines the luminous figure of Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederate States of America.

Mattie Colvard was given three months in jail on a possession charge; McKinley Cothran drew three months for manufacturing while John C. Martin and Emory C. Smith were fined $150 each.

Events in Career.

Dr. Small then gave a graphic sketch of the outstanding events in the career of Jefferson Davis and also spoke of the amazing fight the southern states made under his leadership during the years of the War Between the States.

"It is a matter of record that at the time the Confederacy surrendered there were more than 25,000 soldiers in the Confederate army under 16 years of age," Dr. Small said. "That war taxed all the resources of these states almost to the young people just out of the cradle."

Dr. Small declared that Jefferson Davis stood all in his fight for independence of the Confederacy.

"He would not stand for anything except complete independence and he stood out inflexibly to the end against all obstacles in his effort to procure it," he declared.

The house of representatives hall at the capitol was packed to capacity and Dr. Small frequently was interrupted by loud outbursts of cheers.

VICTIMS IDENTIFY HOSPITAL PATIENT AS LOCAL BANDIT

Identification as W. Scott Sowers, a notorious Georgia hospital patient who was treated for stab wounds and recognized by victims as the participant in two recent holdups, marked the outcome of police investigation Monday.

The hospital patient, who gave his name as Jack Berber, 23, was traced through fingerprints and a photograph in the rogues' gallery by police who identified him Monday as Sowers, ex-convict and notorious criminal character, police announced Monday.

The man stabbed in the head and neck was found early Sunday on Plum street, near Marietta, and rushed to the Grady hospital for treatment. He refused at the time to tell how he became wounded and for a time was looked upon with as much mystery as suspicion by attaches of the hospital.

Later, he was recognized by victims of two holdups that occurred Saturday and subsequently police traced his identity back to that of Sowers.

Only Cadillac and LaSalle provide this Safety and Handling Ease

The indispensable protection of the Syncro-Mesh Silent-Shift Transmission, Duplex-Mechanical Four-Wheel Brakes, and non-shattering Security-Plate Glass in all windows, doors and windshields, is standard equipment with every Cadillac and LaSalle.

THE exclusive safety and handling ease factors cited above almost compel the choice of Cadillac or LaSalle. They place these cars so far in the forefront that the selection of Cadillac or LaSalle becomes only a matter of the elimination of cars not so equipped.

The Syncro-Mesh Silent-Shift Transmission has won enthusiastic, nationwide approval—for the very excellent reason that it eliminates one of the most annoying phases of driving.

With this new transmission gear-shifting becomes almost an unconscious act. There is never any clashing—no noise. With your finger-tips you make just one gentle movement from gear to gear with the lever. You can shift from high back to second as readily as from second to high—at any speed—a feature you will especially appreciate on steep hills.

Experts are finding it a revelation; it is indispensable to the inexperienced; and women in particular acclaim it a welcome boon from the old method of "tugging" and "timing" to keep from clashing the gears. This transmission is exclusively Cadillac's and it is protected by basic patents.

The Cadillac-LaSalle Duplex-Mechanical Four-Wheel Brakes (also exclusive because of basic patents) are of inestimable value in any traffic emergency. No other car has brakes so powerful, so positive in action, or that operate with so little pedal pressure. The lightest touch of the toe on the brake pedal gives

LaSalle is just as easy to purchase as many cars of far less value and far less prestige. And it is far more economical to operate. It is priced from $2295 to $2875. Cadillac $3295 to $3995. All prices f. o. b. Detroit. The General Motors Deferred Payment Plan makes it possible for you to enjoy your Cadillac or LaSalle at once and pay out of income.

instantaneous, velvet-like deceleration. Increased pressure enables you to stop your car in the shortest possible space. Also, a thorough examination would reveal that when the brake pedal is released there is never any tendency to drag—the cause of much needless friction and wear in cars not so equipped.

The protection afforded by Security Plate Glass, with which all Cadillac-LaSalle windows, doors and windshields are equipped, is of too great importance to be lightly brushed aside. This glass remains intact if broken through impact or collision. It will not fly into fragments. It is Cadillac's conscientious conviction that every motorist is entitled to this protection in these days of high speed and congested streets and highways.

These three safety factors are standard equipment in every Cadillac and LaSalle and are offered at no extra charge.

... Consider the delivered price as well as the list price when comparing automobile values. Cadillac-LaSalle delivered prices include only reasonable charges for delivery and financing.

MANY BELLES HOME FROM SCHOOL

Social Program Augmented By Affairs for College Set

Atlanta's summer social season is receiving a decided impetus with the return of popular belles from college, who are arriving daily from well-known colleges and finishing schools, where they have been enrolled for the past year. Parties galore are planned in honor of these lovely members of the college set and their classmates, who will accompany a number of the young Atlantans home for brief visits.

Miss Josephine Hardman, charming daughter of Governor and Mrs. L. G. Hardman, returns today from Shorter college, to spend several weeks with her parents at the executive mansion in Ansley Park before the governor and his family go to their historical summer home in Nacoochee Valley.

Miss Marion Calhoun, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Phinizy Calhoun, who is a student at the National Cathedral school in Washington, D. C., will not return until next week, having gone to the Episcopal High school in Alexandria, Va., where her brothers, Phinizy and Lawson Calhoun, are students. Miss Calhoun will be a popular visitor attending the commencement social gayeries at this school for boys as well as Miss Emily Ingalls, of this city, who left Saturday for Alexandria. Misses Florence and Mary Bryan, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Shepard Bryan, who are also students at the National Cathedral, returned from Washington Saturday.

Miss Frances McKenzie, who attends a convent near the national capital, will go direct to New York, where she sails June 12 with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Spear, on the Leviathan for Europe to spend the summer. Miss Sally Pearson, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. W. F. Pearson, who reside at the Georgian Terrace, graduated last week from Rosemary Hall at Greenwich, Conn., and has joined her parents at their summer home near Trion, N. C. Miss Pearson will sail with her parents the latter part of July for Europe, where they will spend several months traveling.

Misses Smith Return.
Misses Helen Hill Smith and Laura Payne Smith will return the latter part of this week from the Georgetown Visitation convent near Washington, D. C., accompanied by their granddaughter, Mrs. J. Carroll Paine, who left last week for the national capital. Miss Constance Adams, daughter of Mrs. A. S. Adams, is another popular Atlanta belle attending Georgetown convent who will return home the latter part of this week.

Misses Mary Louise Chamberlain. Jeannette Chamberlain and Jerry Gillis have returned from Fairfax Hall, in Waynesboro, Va., to spend the summer vacation with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Chamberlain on Ponce de Leon avenue.

Miss Rachel Neely. daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Neely, who has been for the past year studying at the Sorbonne university near Paris, France, will not return to The States until early fall. Misses Jacqueline Moore and Louise Moore are two popular Atlantans who will spend the summer studying abroad, sailing the latter part of June with the former's mother, Mrs. Wilmer Moore, for France. They will go direct to Fontainebleau, near Paris, where they will pursue their musical studies.

Miss Martha Morrow. who is a student at Holton Arms, in Washington, D. C., is another Atlanta college belle.

Of cordial interest to the members of the sub-club contingent of society is the arrival next Saturday morning of Miss Susan Palmer from her home in Jacksonville, Fla., to be the guest of Miss Caroline Crumley at her home on Inman circle in Ansley Park.

Miss Palmer is the attractive young daughter of Addison Palmer and the late Mrs. Palmer, who before her marriage was Miss Susie May Pope, of Atlanta. Her arrival for a visit is of deep interest not only to the younger set of society but to many of the older contingent who were friends of her lovely mother and who remember her maternal grandparents, Mrs. Willie Pope and the late Mr. Pope, who for many years resided in their home at the corner of Peachtree street and North avenue.

Miss Rebecca Felton To Be Honored.

Rebecca Felton chapter, U. D. C., will entertain Mrs. Rebecca Latimer Felton, of Cartersville, on her 94th birthday at the Henry Grady hotel June 10 to a luncheon. The members of the chapter and friends desiring to attend will please call Mrs. J. W. Hollingsworth, Main 3504-J, or Mrs. J. A. Beall, Walnut 7934, for reservations.

Mrs. Daisy Cobb, teacher of piano, has given two scholarships through Rebecca Felton chapter, U. D. C. Kathryn Marks, and Virginia Rogers won these scholarships. Mrs. A. T. Cross, also teacher of piano, gave two scholarships, which were won by Frances Hearn and Katherine Barong. Mrs. W. R. Lounsbury, Mrs. R. M. Caraway and Mrs. J. R. Smith are attending the U. D. C. reunion in Charlotte, N. C., this week.

College Belles To Lead Prom.

Announcement is made that Miss Mary Meador Goldsmith and Miss Susan Broyles have been selected to lead the grand march at the Junior prom Thursday evening, June 6, at the Tech gymnasium, the former dancing with Charles Whitner and the latter with Dutch Faust.

Returned from Ward-Belmont, where they have been studying for the past year, Miss Eleanor Johnson, who has been attending the Ogontz finishing school near Philadelphia, returned the latter part of last week to spend the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Casper Johnson, at their home on Andrews drive.

Miss Eugenia Bridges, who is a popular student at Hollins college, will attend the commencement festivities at Washington and Lee university before returning home. Miss Hannah Sterne and Miss Susette Heath, who are also popular students at Hollins, will spend the summer traveling in Europe. Misses Laura Hoke, Marion Wolfe, Laura Hoke and Florence Underwood are additional Atlanta girls enrolled at Hollins who will return the latter part of this week from college.

OUR CLUB—By Secretary Hawkins

BILL DABBY TOLD US TODAY HE'D GET A WHIPPING FROM HIS POP IF HE DIDN'T GET THOSE RATS OUT OF HIS HOUSE. "I'VE GOT THEM, BUT I'VE GOT SOME CATS, OR SOMETHING," HE SAID.

NONE OF US WANTED TO SEE BILL GET A WHIPPING, SO WE STARTED AFTER SOME CATS. THE FIRST CAT WE SAW WAS MISS SALLY'S BIG FAT ONE. SHE WAS SLEEPING ON THE WOODSHED.

JERRY MOORE CLIMBED AFTER HIM, BUT THE CAT SAW HIM FIRST, AND HE RAN INTO THE WOODSHED. OUR CAPTAIN RUSHED IN AFTER HIM BUT HE CAME OUT FASTER THAN HE WENT IN.

BILL DABBY SAID HE WASN'T AFRAID, SO HE MARCHED IN, BUT HE CAME OUT WITHOUT THE CAT. THEN JERRY WENT IN. WE HEARD A BIG RUMPLUS GOING ON, AND JERRY LET OUT A YELL.

WHEN JERRY CAME OUT-ALONE, HE LOOKED SAD. "HAWKINS," HE SAID, "GO IN AND SEE THAT CAT. I HAD TO HIT HIM! GEE WHIZ! I RAN IN AND LOOKED AROUND, BUT THAT OLD TOM WASN'T THERE. HE DISAPPEARED!"

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

WELCOME ROBIN BECOMES JEALOUS.

By Thornton W. Burgess.

The jealous always are unjust. Because, forsooth, they will not trust. —Mrs. Robin.

Jealousy is a bad thing. It makes trouble. It makes trouble for the one who is jealous and it makes trouble for other people. Welcome Robin was jealous and he was growing more and more so. There was a strange Robin hanging around near where Mrs. Robin was hard at work on the new nest. Welcome had seen him several times. Each time, however, he saw him for only a moment or two; then the stranger disappeared. Where he disappeared to Welcome hadn't the slightest idea, and this made him all the more jealous. He felt that Mrs. Robin must have seen him and that she was keeping the fact from him. He hunted everywhere for the stranger. He went over to the Old Orchard and looked all through it. He went all around Farmer Brown's house and looked in every tree. He looked in all the trees along the road. Not so much as a strange feather did he discover.

"That fellow is hiding somewhere," declared Welcome to himself. "He is hiding somewhere around here, if where it can be I haven't the slightest idea."

He flew over to the place where he had already seen the stranger two or three times—and there was still no sign of him. Welcome Robin sat perfectly still and glared at the stranger. The stranger sat perfectly still and glared back at Welcome Robin. Welcome Robin puffed out his feathers and made himself look as big as he could. The stranger puffed out his feathers and made himself look just as big as Welcome Robin.

"Who are you?" demanded Welcome Robin. "What are you doing here? This is my house and I want you to keep away from it." The stranger made no reply. Welcome saw him open his bill two or three times, but there wasn't a sound from him. Welcome made a motion as if he would fly at the stranger. It didn't seem the stranger at all. The stranger made no motion. If he would fly at Welcome Robin, it looked very much as if there would be a fight right then and there. But just at that minute Mrs. Robin arrived at the nest with her bill full of mud. Welcome flew over beside her.

"Now don't tell me, my dear," said

"Who are you?" demanded Welcome Robin.

you arrived with that mud," declared Welcome Robin. "But the minute my back was turned he sneaked off. The next time I saw him, I'll pull all his feathers out! That's what I'll do. I'll pull all his feathers out! No stranger can come sneaking around my home and not get into trouble. And don't tell me that you haven't seen him! There isn't anything the matter with your eyes, is there?"

"Not a thing," declared Mrs. Robin rather sharply. "But I'm beginning to think there's something the matter with your eyes. If there was a stranger Robin around here I guess I'd know it." "I guess you do know it!" retorted Welcome. "And I'll tell you something. That fellow isn't going to stay around here much longer. I'm going to wait right here until he comes back."

So Welcome Robin sat close beside the nest and waited. He waited and waited and waited. The stranger didn't come back. But all the time he was waiting, Welcome Robin grew more and more jealous.

The next story: "Welcome Robin Bumps His Head."

Junior League National President Will Be Honored

Honoring Mrs. Fokett Brown, of Nashville, Tenn., national president of the Junior League of America, and Mrs. William Jay McKenna, of Boston, Mass., first vice president and organizer of the local league, the Atlanta Junior League entertains at a luncheon today at the Piedmont Driving Club. Mrs. Brown arrives this morning, to be guest of Miss Margaret Nelson, president of the local league.

Mrs. Brown, who is the first southerner to hold the office of chief executive in the national organization, has been prominently identified with the work of the organization throughout a period of years. She was president of the Nashville Junior League and at the same time a member of the executive board of the national organization. As Miss Frances Dudley of Nashville, she is a popular belle, being member of Cotillion Club and other social organizations.

Mrs. Charles H. Black, Jr., is luncheon chairman, and Miss Nelson will preside over the business session, turning the gavel over to Mrs. John Knox, the new president, at the close of the session. The corps of incoming officers includes Mrs. Charles Orme, first vice president; Mrs. Edward Van Winkle, Jr., second vice president; Mrs. Humphrey Wagar, treasurer; Mrs. Belling Jones, recording secretary; and Mrs. Robert L. Foreman, corresponding secretary.

Kirkwood Study Club To Present Program.

THE UNKISSED BRIDE

By BERTA RUCK

SYNOPSIS

Joy Harrison, living in London and working for Dr. Rex Travers in Harley street, is crushed by a letter from her fiancé, Geoffrey Ford, a well known novelist, asking to be released from the engagement. Overwhelmed with her own trouble, she falls to notice that Dr. Travers seems troubled, too. Towards the end of the day he tells her that he has just lost a great deal of money through an unscrupulous solicitor and he will be forced to give up his house in Harley street.

Dr. Locke, a partner, tells Rex that he has just been offered a practice with a comfortable villa in the south of France which he cannot take on, and he suggests that he recommend Rex for it. The only hitch to the plan is that they want a married doctor and Rex is a bachelor. To his partner's suggestion that he marry and take up the new post, Rex turns a deaf ear.

Joy, who has been listening to the doctor's colloquy, suddenly sees a method of escape for her and she asks Dr. Travers if he will marry her on a business engagement. The doctor is stunned by her suggestion and finally asks her why she made it. She tells him that she is badly in need of another job, although her real reason is to have Geoffrey read of her engagement to another man.

The doctor hounds over the change his altered circumstances will have on his young nephew and ward, Percival Arthur Fitzroy, and they enter into an agreement to marry as a strictly business basis. Immediately after the ceremony Rex, Joy and Percival arrive on the south of France. Joy keeps house and Percival Arthur has the time of his life for one day and Travers is worried about him.

INSTALLMENT XXXII. A DIFFICULT TASK.

Travers' hand was wrung by immovable cordial strangers—his in-laws. They were met by the little Italian maid, "No, Monsieur le Docteur, Tout-tou is not with us."

"Tout-tou is Arr-tou? Not here?"

"Ah, the brigand! He forsakes his camerader!"

"His morning he promised to teach the crawl to Simone and Marcel and Pierrot and Jean and Shirley!"

"This afternoon it was arranged he fetch for the tennis Eugenia and me," complained one of the little Italian maidens, ready in handkerchiefs and Lenzien frock. "No Percival!"

"One is as dead without him!" reiterated another camerader—the doctor, Rex, having had his wrist nearly dislocated in what people of other nations intend for an English shake-hand and which was dealt out to him by whom heaven and Percival Arthur alone knew, departed.

He met, on his road back to Mon Plaisir, the red roadster and the friendly young count, returned from the driving to the station to fetch a lady. He pulled up, and introduced Travers to this lady. She was his married sister, the loveliness—some Russian name Red did not catch; about 30, pretty, and faultlessly turned out, with a pair of blue Breton eyes.

"I want to bring her, if I may, to call on Mrs. Travers."

"Oh, do!—Er—my wife would be delighted."

"You are just married?" said the pretty baroness, whose blue eyes were roguish and inquisitive, leaning out of the car towards him—rather like the eyes of his sister, Ida Muirhead. "I like very much to see the first arrangements of the young marriage; it interests every woman, that!"

"Quite," said Travers, politely; and briefly reported the disappearance of Percival Arthur.

"I haven't seen him since perhaps 11 this morning when I promised for tomorrow to lend him this bus with Mauley for a joyride," said the count in his English, which was excellent, studded with occasional jewels of mispronunciation and unusual phrase.

"What a charming chap he is, Dr. Travers! A thorough little sportsman; intelligent, droll."

"Very kind of you."

"No, but when I see madame, Mrs. Travers, coming down in the morning with him to the sea, I am reminded always of—Will you not light a cigarette?—I am reminded of those Italian paintings of Venus accompanied by her son scarcely younger than she. You know the picture, don't you? Not the fat little baby Cupidon, but the young and growing Eros. He and she make each other value—how do you say? Show the other up, Compliments."

"Oh, thanks," said Rex, feeling all the Englishman's discomfort under personal remarks affecting his family. Joy was hardly fairly, but he found it oddly distasteful to hear her beauty remarked upon by another man. This count was a nice enough fellow, but he had the continental's habit of putting into so many words what we shrink putting into thoughts.

Rex added, "Well, Lord knows where the infernal boy's got to; he's been missing since before lunch."

"Not to be surprised at," smiled the count, turning again to the wheel. "In this place there are such hopes of distractions, isn't it? Eros, escaped! An revoir!"

He drove off with the sister who turned eagerly to him to discuss the seductive Englishman whom they had just met).

Rex got out his own car to take him four miles out on a professional visit to the Honorable Maud Ware, one of the nice English, for whom he would have been glad to have prescribed six months' hard labor. Since she was a woman so colorless that she could acquire no importance except through ill health, she had developed a habit of wakening in the middle of the night, and she now talked about "my insomnia" in the tone of possessive pride with which some women utter the words "my boy in the navy," or "my husband's idea."

This afternoon her insomnia fettered the clever new English doctor to her side for one hour and a quarter, during part, at least, of which time he thought of how Joy's little face, over the luncheon table, had lighted up with interest about his flying, had then quickened into protest on the boy's behalf; had then blushed to the vivid pink of one of those Provincial roses—about what?

Joy, meanwhile, spent a solitary afternoon. A lazy, sunning afternoon; all quiet but for the released voice of Melanie raised above more in her song of love misunderstanding.

"Thinks she's got the whole of Mon Plaisir to herself," Joy smiled, contentedly pottering.

Quite astounding the pleasure she herself took in a house to herself. This place was growing so real to her; it was sending London, Chelsea, Harley street, back into a region of far-off unhappy things that—strange—seemed to mean less and less!

Joy herself could scarcely believe that in so short a time she should feel so utterly different.

For instance—

Yes, now she ought to face what lay after all at the core of her secret heart.

What was her true attitude toward Geoffrey Ford?

This free afternoon could be employed in writing to him a letter which she ought to have got off a fortnight ago. A letter of full and frank explanation, in reply to his.

What about it?

Joy entered Madame Jeanne's bedroom (she always thought of herself as a guest in this apartment, from which she had, all the same, banished a covey of those cupids.) Joy took from the pocket in the mauve lining of her dressing case a letter which had reached her two minutes after her wedding. She read it. It was the shortest letter she had ever received from a writer of profuse love letters; it was the least charming (since the letter from the heart is seldom a credit to the head). It ran:

"Dear Joy:—

"I don't know if this will be the slightest use, but I am writing to beg you to wash out my last letter and to take me back if you feel you can. I am waiting at my rooms in Tite street. One line, dear, as soon as you possibly can."

"Yours, as he never was before, "GEOFFREY."

To which she had hastily scribbled the reply to be posted as Victoria station.

"I am married and we are just going away. I will write later."

"JOY TRIVERS."

And she had not written.

Every day the writing of that letter became more difficult; simpler explanations have been skirted and postponed by people of character more assured than Joy Travers.

She stood looking at Madame Jeanne's gilded escritoire, its porcelain inkstand embellished by one of those porcelain cupids. Another cupid held up instead of an arrow a pink feather pen.

Joy shook her head at it. In a mood when writing seems impossible, one would be certain to put the wrong thing.

Joy remembered that Percival Arthur's room at the top of the house was sure to need putting in order; how can one expect maids to do without grumbling what falls to the share of the female relatives of masculinity at the Slovenage?

His room, of course, was what his American friends would describe as a burrah's nest. It showed evidence that the boy had pushed in again after his first suit cast down on the pillow. On the floor lay in rags his long white flannel trousers, socks (one with a gaudy sock-suspender attached), braces entangled with some fishing line, an under garment, and his Newburgh blazer.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

THE EARLY AMERICAN FURNACES AND foundries were extremely crude. IN THOSE DAYS IT WAS NECESSARY FOR THE IRON-MASTER TO REHEAT AND HAMMER HIS IRON OVER AND OVER TO REMOVE ITS IMPURITIES. AND BRING IT TO A WORKABLE STATE. NOW, EVER, IRON MANUFACTURING IN AMERICA WAS A THRIVING INDUSTRY FROM THE START.

The Story of American Industry: Iron and Steel—(Part Two)—Colonial Furnaces.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

LATER, DURING THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR THE COLONIAL IRON-MASTERS RENDERED VALUABLE SERVICE TO THE AMERICAN CAUSE IN CASTING CANNON AND CANNON BALLS FOR THE CONTINENTAL ARMY.

AFTER THE REVOLUTION, AS THE TIDE OF EMIGRATION BEGAN TO SURGE WESTWARD OVER THE ALLEGHENY MOUNTAINS, MANY FURNACES WERE SET UP IN THE OHIO VALLEY TO MEET THE DEMAND OF THE SETTLERS FOR IRON IMPLEMENTS.

TOMORROW—IRON AND STEEL.

MRS. ALBERT H. COX DIES AT AGE OF 74

Mother of Col. Charles H. Cox Will Be Buried Here. Native of Forsyth.

Mrs. Albert H. Cox, a former prominent resident of Atlanta and mother of Colonel Charles H. Cox, of the 122nd infantry, U. S. A., died suddenly Sunday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Henry King, on Lookout Mountain, where she had made her home for the past several years. She was 74 years old.

The body of Mrs. Cox will be brought to Atlanta for funeral services and interment at a time to be announced later. Interment will be in West View cemetery.

Mrs. Cox was a native of Forsyth, Ga., but had lived the majority of her life in Atlanta. She was a member of the First Baptist church, and one of the first regents of the Atlanta chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Sunday night as she was reading to several grandchildren Mrs. Cox was stricken with a heart attack and died before medical aid could be summoned.

In addition to her daughter and son she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Corrie Coleman, of Richmond, Va.; a son, Harmon O. Cox, of Chicago, and nephews, Eugene R. Black, governor of the Federal Reserve bank of Atlanta; Charles H. Black, A. J. Orme, Charles H. Harmon, all of Atlanta, and Judge William H. Black, of New York, and a niece, Mrs. Rebecca Harmon Lindsay.

MRS. LUCY M. BELL TO BE BURIED TODAY

Cobb County Pioneer Dies Near Athens—Services Will Be Held Here.

Funeral services for Mrs. Lucy M. Bell, pioneer resident of Cobb county and member of one of Georgia's best known families, will be held at 10:30 o'clock this morning from the chapel of T. C. Hazen, company, Mrs. Bell died last Sunday afternoon at the home of her son, J. Claude Bell, near Athens, Ga. Interment will be in Hollywood cemetery.

Widow of the late James Crawford Bell and daughter of Tillman G. McAlle and Caron Pace McAlle, names eminently associated with the early history of north Georgia, Mrs. Bell had a wide circle of friends in this section and was a life-long member of the Order of Eastern Star and Methodist church.

Although death came when she was well advanced in years, being in eighty-fourth year of Mrs. Bell's passing was a source of unexpected grief to her many friends.

Besides her son she is survived by her daughter, Mrs. P. S. Sappington, of Atlanta; six grandchildren, H. A. Sappington, C. B. Sappington, Van T. Bell, Mrs. Claude Eberhardt, Mrs. Mary Barker, Atlanta, and Floyd T. Nelson, of Chattanooga, and three great-grandchildren, Harry Sappington, Loraine Sappington and Grady Bell.

PLAN TO CONDEMN STRIP TO REMOVE VIADUCT 'OFFSET'

Condemnation proceedings to acquire the southeast corner of Central avenue and Decatur street for the purpose of eliminating the offset where the Central avenue viaduct intersects Ivy street at Decatur will be begun at once, following a report of W. T. Buchanan, agent for the city, who reported to council Monday afternoon that he was unable to agree on a price for the strip owned by John W. Grant.

The matter will be referred to an arbitration board at once and then will go into the courts unless an agreement is reached. Reports of Mr. Buchanan showed that the owners want approximately $125,000 for a strip 50 feet wide on Decatur street and 90 feet from the intersection.

Members of the Atlanta board of public works, which is headed by Frank H. Neely, have urged the offset elimination since the Central avenue project was first begun to make the viaduct more effective, and have gained the support of city council and the mayor for the proposal.

STORES, OFFICES IN PECK BUILDING DAMAGED IN FIRE

Fire of undetermined origin early Tuesday morning caused considerable damage to the Peck building, 141 Peachtree street, according to fire department reports. The tailor shop of G. Hellman and the dental parlors of Dr. Louis Prosterman on the second floor were damaged by the flames while the Lane Drug store and the United Cigar store, on the first floor, suffered water damage.

VOTE TO INSTALL TRAFFIC LAMPS AT UNDERPASS

Traffic signal lamps will be provided for the intersection of the Georgia railway at Boulevard, under a resolution passed Monday afternoon by unanimous vote of council. Councilman John A. White, of the fourth ward, offered the paper. He explained that the underpass is dangerous in its present condition and that the traffic lamps as a precautionary measure.

AUTHOR RESCINDS PLAN TO CHANGE MOVIE ORDINANCES

Former Atlantan Held for Effort To Cheat Woman

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 3.—(Special.)—An advertisement by Mrs. W. T. Newman, of Eatonton, Ga., seeking information concerning the whereabouts of her missing son, Luther Clayton Newman, is believed by H. S. Tullis, postoffice inspector, to have been the suggestion that Luther C. Carpenter, 38, former Atlantan, followed when he wrote to Mrs. Newman, represented himself to be her son, and requested her to forward him $200 with which to pay a fine allegedly imposed upon him in municipal court in this city.

Carpenter was taken into custody by Inspector Tullis today, following his release from Cincinnati workhouse when he had completed the service of his fine and sentence on the police charge. He was arraigned before Harry Neal Smith, United States commissioner, under a charge of having misused the mails in furtherance of a scheme to defraud the Eatonton woman.

Carpenter admitted he had written the letter to the Georgian and he was on the federal grand jury. In default of $5,000 bond he was committed to the Hamilton county jail here to await action by the federal investigating body.
